PRONUNCIATION

CARD 1.-

A merchant called Antonio lived in Venice. He had plenty of money, but he was not a very happy person. He was very kind, however, and many people turned to him for help when they were in trouble. He was always willing to lend people money when they needed it. People were happy to borrow money from Antonio because he never charged them interest. The people of Venice liked and respected Antonio, but his best friend of all was Bassanio. Bassanio was younger than Antonio and came from a good family. He did not have much money, but he had expensive tastes. Antonio was always happy to lend Bassanio money whenever he needed it. Bassanio had borrowed a lot of money from his friend over the years, but Antonio did not mind. Anything Bassanio wanted, Antonio would give him.

.....On their way home, both friends talked about the answer Shylock could give them. Antonio looked very tired and hungry

CARD 2.-

Jessica was sitting at her writing desk. She was writing a letter to Lorenzo, and from time to time she sighed. She looked up when Launcelot came into the room, and smiled. For her, Launcelot was more like a friend than a servant.

"Oh, Launcelot, I'm very glad to see you," she said. "I am so tired of living in this house. Nothing ever happens, and my father is strict."

She sighed again. She did not like her father very much. She knew that nobody in Venice liked him. This was because he lent money with interest, but also because they thought Shylock was mean and greedy. He seemed to love money more than people, and more than anything else in the world.

CARD 3.-

"I want you to take this letter to Lorenzo," she said. "But do not tell anybody about it."

"Of course, my lady," said Launcelot, "I will keep it a secret."

He put the letter in his pocket.

"With this letter, you are helping me to escape," Jessica said. "I am going to marry Lorenzo as soon as I can, and in this letter I tell him about my plan. Soon, Lorenzo and I will be together, and I can forget all about this house. It's a terrible thing, to be ashamed of your father, but I am. He is a horrible man, and I will be glad to leave him"

Launcelot left at once. He found his friends. They were talking quietly. Launcelot gave Lorenzo Jessica's letter. Lorenzo read it and smiled.

CARD 4

As the Prince of Aragon was leaving Portia's house, Bassanio arrived with Gratiano, Lorenzo and Jessica. Bassanio was very happy to see Portia and he wanted to do the test as soon as possible.

"Oh Bassanio, please wait for a few days," Portia said. "Do not try to pass the test today. I would like to spend some time with you, and if you fail the test, you will have to go."

"Don't worry about the test, my dear," said Bassanio. "I love you and I am the right man for you."

Portia sighed, but brought Bassanio into the room with the three boxes. He looked at them carefully and read the writing on each one. He looked up at Portia and smiled.

"I am going to choose the lead box," he said. "It says: The man who chooses me must give and risk everything he owns. I will give and risk everything for you, Portia."

He opened the lead box. Portia held her breath.
